Town's Request For 80% Grant Turned Down

Water, Sewer Rate Increase For Local Share Not Permitted

Mayor Charles Black was informed this week that West Liberty's application for a $600,000 emergency grant with which to build a badly-needed water filtration plant and extend water mains has been turned down by the Economic Development Administration.

The reason: a 67 percent increase in local water and sewer rates passed by the city council in order for the town to qualify for the 80 percent grant is not permissible under President Nixon's emergency freeze on wages, prices, and rents.

The increase in local water and sewer rates was to go into effect Dec. 20 to meet part of the local obligation for the $750,000 construction project.

The grant, from an emergency fund established by the President to finance projects of dire need, was virtually assured had it not been necessary to increase city water and sewer rates to finance the local cost, a city council member said Wednesday.

The grant would have financed construction of the new water filtration plant and lines needed to provide the new community hospital and the proposed new Morgan County High School with water.

And had the grant been approved, construction of the projects would have been underway by Feb. 15.

The city council has obligated itself to provide the new hospital and the new school with water. But as the situation now stands, the hospital is two-thirds completed and work on the new school is slated to begin in the near future and work on providing the promised water has not yet begun.

According to Mayor Black, EDA has recommended that the city council re-submit the application for a regular 60 percent EDA grant.

But if the town can't raise 20 percent of the project's cost under the present price freeze guidelines in order to qualify for an 80 percent grant, council members are at a loss as to how the town could raise 40 percent of the cost to qualify for a 60 percent grant.

754 SEE GRAHAM FILM; 54 PERSONS ARE CONVERTED

"The Restless Ones," considered the most successful motion picture yet produced by Rev. Billy Graham, was attended by 754 people during its three-day showing in West Liberty on Dec. 1, 2 and 3 — and a total of 54 persons confessed conversion during the three-day campaign.

Among those who made decisions were 17 boys from the Woodbend Boys Camp, and 11 other young people.

"Lives were challenged and strengthened as a result of the preparation, prayers and the film," said one member of the local sponsoring council. And the campaign was termed a tremendous success.

Mrs. James E. Perry was chairman of the local group that sponsored the three-day campaign, and she directed the county-wide preparations.

Background of the movie was the 1963 Billy Graham Los Angeles Campaign which dramatically focused the social problems encountered by today's teenage youth, and came up with an answer — "not an easy answer, but an answer beyond us," as one reviewer said.

Presentation of the movie culminated a four-week Christian Life and Witness course which was led by Rev. Hugh Brooks of Morehead, with some 40 local people taking part.

Members of this witness group are continuing their work with the Woodbend Boys Camp youth through regular counseling sessions at the camp.

LOGVILLE HOME BURNS FRIDAY

The seven-room frame home of Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Elam and family at Logville was destroyed by fire last Friday afternoon. The home, its contents, and a smokehouse were destroyed by fire last Friday afternoon.

The fire, of unknown origin, was discovered about 1 p.m. by neighbors while the Elams were away. The West Liberty Fire Department answered the alarm and was able to save a nearby barn containing 1,000 bales of hay, a tractor, and other farm machinery.

No damage estimate was given. The family of seven is presently staying with Mr. Elam's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Elam.

A household shower for the stricken family will be held at the Millard Hensley School in Magoffin County Sunday, Dec. 19, from 1 until 4 p.m. The Elams have five children ranging in age from 3 to 19.

It was the second Morgan County home destroyed by fire in the past two weeks. The home of Mr. and Mrs. David Clark at Artville burned two weeks ago and a shower for the Clarks was held Saturday night at the Tom's Branch Church.

MORGAN HAS PART IN INAUGURATION OF NEW GOVERNOR

Morgan Countians helped make up three groups that participated in the four-hour inaugural parade in Frankfort Tuesday of last week when Wendell Ford was sworn in as Governor and Julian Carroll as Lieut. Governor.

The Morgan County High School band was one of 135 marching bands in the Inaugural Parade. The color guard of Herman Volney Nickell Post Veterans of Foreign Wars helped form the color guard for the parade, and Waldo Lacy, Morgan's champion muzzle-loading marksman, helped compose the Kentucky Longriflemen Team, dressed in buckskins, moccasins and conical caps and carrying flintlock rifles, which marched in the parade and paused to fire a long rifle salute to the new governor.

A number of Morgan citizens and officials also attended the gala inaugural, but this paper has been unable to get a complete list of them.

INGRAM NAMED TO ROAD POST

Otto Ingram, 55, Frenchburg, has been appointed Kentucky deputy commissioner of rural roads in Frankfort by the commissioner of the Kentucky Department of Highways, Charles Pryor Jr.

Ingram is the only Menifee County judge to be elected to the office for three consecutive terms. He resigned the judgeship prior to accepting the appointment.

Ingram is a graduate of Morehead State University, and was Gov. Wendell Ford's campaign manager in Menifee County in the May primary and coordinator for the campaign in the primary in Bath, Menifee, Wolfe, Elliott and Carter counties.

He is president of the board of directors of the Mountain Rural Telephone Cooperative with headquarters at West Liberty.

Ingram is the father of the new Menifee County Judge Randall Ingram.

Lindon Kin Denies He Had Shotgun

Lloyd H. Lindon's wife denied her husband was seated on their porch with a shotgun when State Trooper Larry Wood returned to arrest him last week after Lindon had scuffled with the Trooper and then fled in an auto. The Courier quoted the officer in its account of the incident last week.

Mrs. Lindon said this was incorrect. She explained that their trailer home at Adele was locked and she had the key and was away visiting a neighbor. Lindon had not been found by Wednesday of this week.

MORGAN'S FEED GRAIN SET-ASIDE PAYMENTS DOWN $234,780 SINCE '69

702 Morgan Farmers Receive $48,058 For Diverted Acres In '71

Farmers who participate in the 1972 Feed Grain Program will be permitted to receive set-aside payments on more of their corn acres next year than they did this year, according to the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

This may be good news to Morgan farmers, who, due to provisions of the 1971 Feed Grain Program, saw their total set-aside payments plummet from $238,746 in 1970 to only $48,058 this year.

This resulted from provisions of the 1971 program which induced farmers to place back into production many of the corn acres they previously had sown in grass and upon which they had received set-aside payments under former programs.

The result was far fewer dollars for set-aside acres, a surplus of unneeded corn, and in some instances, severe cropland damage from summer flash floods that otherwise would not have occurred.

Damage to cropland resulted when bottom land, formerly set aside and in grass, was plowed and planted in corn last spring, and then eroded by the flash floods which hit in mid-summer.

Many of these damaged acres would have escaped erosion had they been left in grass, local observers say.

As a result of the surplus production which occurred under the 1971 program, the 1972 Feed Grain Program is designed to take at least 38 million acres out of production in the United States, as compared with 18.2 million acres which were set aside in 1971.

Under the 1972 program, farmers, depending on whether or not the USDA's goal of 38 million set-aside acres is reached, may be permitted to set aside up to 50 percent of their farm's corn base.

TWO JUVENILES ADMIT BREAK-INS

Two juveniles charged with breaking and entering three West Liberty businesses were apprehended last week by City Police and State Police officers and appeared in juvenile court here Wednesday.

The youths, who admitted breaking into the Courier Publishing Co., Henry's Fabric Shop, and a gunshop belonging to Rex Maxey, were placed on probation by County Judge Gene Allen after the youths agreed to pay back what was taken.

They have been released under the care of the Kentucky Department of Child Welfare. Meanwhile, officers continue their efforts to apprehend "another person or persons" whom they believe to be responsible for a number of other break-ins which have occurred in West Liberty since Oct. 1.

JURY FINDS CANEY MAN NOT GUILTY ON GROG CHARGE

Curtis Cornett of Caney, who was arrested last week on a charge of illegal possession of alcoholic beverages for the purpose of resale in a dry territory, was found not guilty by a six-man jury in County Court here last Friday morning.

Cornett was arrested last Wednesday by Sheriff James Brooks and State Police officers who also confiscated seven cases of beer.

Cornett was defended by Atty. Robert Hutchinson. County Attorney Thomas M. Davis served for the prosecution.

According to ASCS records, the $48,058 in set-aside payments received by Morgan County farmers this year was for 1,963 acres withdrawn from production. This is $234,780 less than the set-aside payments received in 1969 when 958 Morgan farmers received a total of $282,838 for their set-aside acreage.

In 1970, a total of 910 farmers received $238,746 in feed-grain set-aside payments.

A total of 702 Morgan farmers participated in the 1971 program with a total of 2,028 acres of corn produced.

State Police officers from the Morehead Post about 6 a.m. Monday raided five homes near West Liberty in search of illegal alcoholic beverages and came away empty-handed.

According to State Police Detective Alonzo Hensley, officers were acting on warrants obtained by Steve Bliffen of West Liberty from Circuit Judge Wm. Kibbey of Olive Hill.

Hensley said the officers raided the homes of Carson Perkins and Smith Perkins on KY-7, Mitchell Gillespie on US-460 east of West Liberty, Shirley Stacy on the Index Hill, and Bobby Perkins at Grassy Creek.

Officers "didn't find a thing," Hensley said.

RALPH HAMILTON IS RE-ELECTED AS ASCS CHAIRMAN

Ben Cox Retiring After 15 Years and McKenzie Named

Ralph Hamilton was re-elected Chairman of the Morgan County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee at the county convention of community committeemen held in the ASCS office Wednesday.

Arthur Gibson was elected as Vice Chairman and Victor McKenzie was elected the Regular Member of the three-member county committee. Kenneth Wheeler and Melvin Wright were named as first and second alternate committeemen.

Ben Cox is retiring from the county committee after 15 years of service, and he was presented a gift in appreciation of his services by the committee. He will continue to serve until Dec. 31.

Victor McKenzie of West Liberty, a well known Morgan farmer, was named to succeed Mr. Cox, and he will become the Regular Member of the county committee on Jan. 1.

When McKenzie takes his seat on the county committee Jan. 1 he will automatically cease to hold the position of community committeemen, and on this date Tommie Brooks, the first alternate, will become the regular member of the West Liberty Community Committee.

Attending and participating in the convention were the 21 community committeemen who had been elected recently by balloting in the seven communities.

The County ASCS Committee is responsible for the local administration of Government farm programs such as acreage allotments, loans for eligible crops, and conservation cost-share programs.

AMENDMENT WILL COST MORGAN SOME $2,460,000 IN ASSESSMENTS

A letter received here by Morgan County Tax Commissioner Harry Coffee from the Kentucky Department of Revenue indicates that the Homestead Exemption Amendment passed at the Nov. 2 general election will go into effect unchallenged.

According to the letter, Revenue Department legal advisers have determined that the amendment is perfectly constitutional and there is no reason why it shouldn't go into effect Jan. 1.

The amendment exempts homes of persons over 65 years of age from taxes on the first $6,500 of valuation.

According to Tax Commissioner Coffee, the amendment will mean a loss to the county of property assessments for tax purposes of roughly $2,460,000.

Coffee said that in West Liberty alone 109 homeowners will qualify for exemption under the amendment — a loss in assessment of "close to $700,000."

Coffee emphasized that the $2,460,000 figure for the county is a rough estimate, but is projected from the figures for West Liberty which "are pretty well accurate."

If the projected loss of assessments is accurate, this will mean a loss of tax income to the county of $16,000 to $17,000, Coffee said, and a loss of some $1700 in tax money to the City of West Liberty.

Good Price, Light Weights Noted In Sales This Week

Kentucky burley markets climbed to a weekly average of $81.53 last week, and advanced again on Monday and Tuesday of this week, reaching a record high of $82.66 on Tuesday.

The market last week advanced both on Monday and Tuesday to a record of $82.08 on Tuesday, but dropped back 10c on Wednesday and another 11c on Thursday to end with a weekly average of $81.53, an all-time record to that time.

This week, prices rose to $82.39 on Monday and advanced 27c on Tuesday to the record $82.66 level Tuesday.

Volume was extremely light on some markets and fairly heavy on others early this week. Season's sales through Monday totaled 348,414,772 pounds for a season average of $80.04.

Most Sterling's market continued to lead in price averages among markets in this area. Various area markets posted these averages on Tuesday —

Mt. Sterling Highest
Mt. Sterling $83.58
Lexington $83.44
Winchester $83.10
Morehead $82.72
Maysville $80.18

Morgan's Income Up To $1,248,355

Morgan County's cash income from burley sales rose to a total of $1,248,255 by mid-week on the basis of 1,689 checks which had cleared through the Commercial Bank in West Liberty through Wednesday noon.

On the same date last year 1,629 checks had cleared for a total of $1,329,430.12.

Last year's $81,175 bigger gross was registered with 60 fewer checks, reflecting the extent of lighter-weighting crops this year in Morgan.

Most Morgan farmers were getting averages of $6 to $9 above last year, but weights were off considerably. However, many Morgan crops were bringing $83 and $84 averages. Among high crops from the county were these —

Eddie Cantrell and Wendell Bradley, Rt. 3 West Liberty, 1166 lbs., $84.37.
Ruby Smith and R. H. Cantrell, Rt. 3 West Liberty, 1132 lbs., $84.49.

Glen Havens, Mire, $84.00.
Bessie Havens, Malone, 1108 lbs., $84.00.

Coal Trucks: The Realities vs. The Myths

(The Courier-Journal)

KENTUCKY State Police stopped 13 coal trucks in Perry County the other day, found them all to be wider than the law allows, and took the drivers into a local magistrate's court where they were cited for violations. No one, including the arresting officers and probably the 13 drivers, expects anything to come of the arrests or citations.

"There are still 78 citations (for operating oversized or overweight coal trucks) in Circuit Court," said an arresting trooper. "We've had hung juries and can't get any decisions on these things. Now there are 13 more citations sitting down there."

The reason the citations "sit down there" gathering dust is because coal-county judges and juries don't want to convict or fine the drivers for fear of putting the strip mines they serve out of business. Strip mining is a big employer and source of income in the coal counties these days, and the people are understandably concerned about what would happen if the trucks couldn't roll and the mines couldn't operate.

Their fears are largely groundless. Last month the University of Kentucky's Office of Development Services and Business Research prepared for Attorney General John Brackinridge a study on enforcing truck-weight laws on Eastern Kentucky roads. The study concluded that strip-mine operators do not have to operate overweight, overwidth trucks to stay in business, and that they could still compete in the coal market if they used smaller, legal-weight trucks.

High Cost To Taxpayer

"No evidence was found," the study report declared, "to support the frequently heard allegation that hauling coal in smaller trucks would lead to the demise of the industry with debilitating consequences, for Eastern Kentucky. Although higher trucking costs would probably generate a higher supply price for coal, little change in quantity demanded would result, and net receipts to the industry would actually rise. . . ."

Furthermore, the report continued, while strip-mine operators may profit from using huge trucks that destroy the roads of the region, the cost to the general taxpayer of Kentucky is high. For example, it costs $4,704 to maintain a mile of road in Rockcastle County, where there is only one operating strip mine, but $9,479 a mile to maintain roads in Pike County, which has the greatest number of strip mines of any coal county.

In other words, it costs the taxpayers of Kentucky, not the strip mine firms, almost $5,000 more per mile to keep up a road in a coal county than in a non-coal county. Or, as the report states:

"As a consequence, the price at which Eastern Kentucky coal is sold reflects only the costs of the private resources used, and not the costs, borne by society, and the citizens of the state . . . are called upon to subsidize the users of coal wherever they may be — Michigan, Ohio, Canada, Japan, Germany and elsewhere."

There is no reason why the hard-pressed Kentucky taxpayer should continue subsidizing cheap coal for foreign markets. If the coal-county judges and juries, under the mistaken impression that they are endangering a golden goose, will not put a stop to this destruction of public roads, Governor Ford can, and he should. If he will instruct his department heads — the Commissioner of Motor Transportation, Director of Reclamation or Director of State Police — to ask the Attorney General for help in these truck cases, the cases can be brought before Franklin Circuit Court, away from coal-county pressures, and prosecuted vigorously by the Attorney General's office.

Under Governor Nunn, this wasn't done. The arresting police and Department of Motor Transportation inspectors kept funneling the cases through local courts where they were stalled. It will be instructive to see what Governor Ford will do in such instances.

OBSERVATIONS AND PREDICTIONS

HISTORY REPUBLISHED — The well-known history of Jenny Wiley titled "Jenny Wiley—Pioneer," by John Nathan Bennett, has been republished from the 1955 edition, and the paperback volume may be obtained by writing Mr. Bennett at Box 13, Mullens, W. Va., 25882 and sending $2.50. Mr. Bennett is a great-great-grandson of the pioneer woman.

MORE COUNTIES FOR 7TH DISTRICT — If reapportionment of Congressional districts comes up at the 1972 session of the legislature, look for Rep. Carl Perkins' 7th district to get additional counties, also Rep. Tim Lee Carter's 6th district in southeastern Kentucky. Both districts in Eastern Kentucky are low in population as compared to other districts. We hear that plans are afoot to add Powell and Montgomery to Perkins' 7th district.

MORE AIRPORTS — A study by Spindletop Research Inc. recommends the construction of 35 more airports for the state by 1991 and "improvements on 45 existing airports. Recommended for new airports are these East Kentucky towns—Hazard, Irvine, Jackson, Louisa, Monticello, Pikeville, Richmond, Berea, Salversville, Vanceburg and Whitesburg. Among other sections needing airports, the study said, is Louisville where a facility costing $207 million should be built.

2ND. BOOK ON APPALACHIA — Harry M. Caudill, the Whitesburg attorney who wrote "Night Comes to the Cumberlands," now has issued a sequel to his original. It is entitled "My Land Is Dying," and was published by E. P. Dutton & Co., a 144-page book with some 32 illustrations that show the ravaging of hill land by strip-mining.

BURLEY PRICES — Some observers, noting the steady advance of burley prices during the first two weeks, suggested the price level might be stabilizing at week's end. But on Monday prices continued their advance, up a full $1 over Friday's averages. And some grades brought as much as $14 above the support price on Monday. To date less than one-tenth of 1 percent of offerings have gone to the Association at government support prices.

OIL MONEY BUYS COAL FIRM — It has not been officially announced yet, but Trans-Continental Oil Co. of Shreveport, La. has bought the Greer-Ellison Coal Co. of Eastern Kentucky. The purchase including extensive coal mining rights in Eastern Kentucky, was made prior to the death of Ben Greer a few weeks ago, but the change in ownership will not affect management personnel. The Greer-Ellison Co. now operating in the Ivy Creek section of Floyd county, holds surface mining rights on about 6,000 acres in that area obtained from the James Hatcher estate, plus about 10,000 additional acres in that area.

MORE IRON, NO. D — Citing "widespread and high prevalence rates of iron deficiency anemia," the U. S. Food and Drug Administration said last week it was ordering millers and bakers to double the iron content of their white flour and bread and to remove all vitamin D as presently required in the food. The order is to take effect in February. Millers and bakers have been required since 1941 to add nutrients to their product, chiefly calcium, Vitamin D and B1 and B2. "The average iron intake in the United States has declined in recent decades due to decreased caloric intake, less contamination of foods with extraneous sources of iron, and the virtual disappearance of iron cooking vessels," said RDA. It ordered the changes to offset the iron deficiencies.

EPIDEMIC PROPORTIONS — A scientific task force reported to the government last week that death and disability from heart attacks, brain-strokes, and other blood vessel maladies have reached epidemic proportions in the United States, and that a new national program of research and education is needed to try to alleviate the scourge. If such a program is implemented now there could be some reduction in deaths and sickness rates from these maladies in the next two or three years, said the report. It recommended a federal grant of $295 million for the first two years of the program. High blood pressure, hardening of the arteries and high fat diet are critical factors contributing to the maladies, and these ailments affect more than 36 million Americans to some degree. They kill more than one million yearly, and partially or completely disable hundreds of thousands more, the study showed.

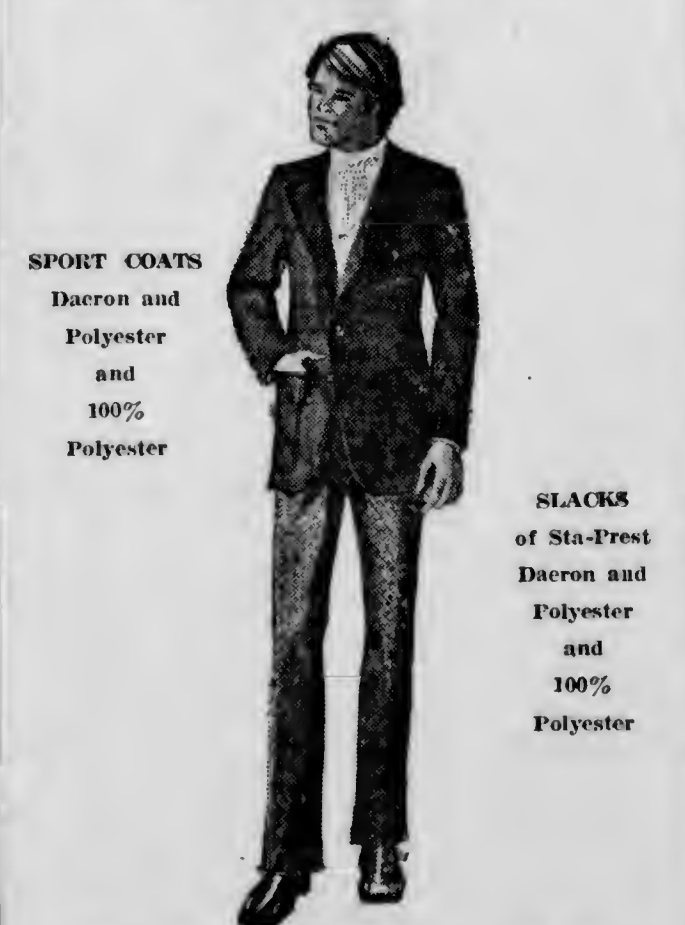

FARMER PROSPECTS — Louis Ison, president of the Kentucky Farm Bureau since 1965, is quoted by the Courier-Journal as saying, "I believe the future of agriculture is getting brighter for those of us who can stand the pressures. And in a few years farming will be more economically rewarding."

FORD REHANGS COMBS' PICTURE AT JENNY WILEY

PRESTONSBURG, Ky. — Gov. Wendell H. Ford visited Prestonsburg's Jenny Wiley State Park Friday, Dec. 10, to fulfill a campaign promise to rehang the picture of former Gov. Bert Combs in May Lodge. The picture of Combs was taken down at the beginning of the Nunn administration.

BREATHITT OUT OF SENATE RACE; HUDDLESTON HAS FORD'S SUPPORT

FRANKFORT, Ky. — In a surprise announcement Thursday, former Gov. Edward T. Breathitt removed himself as a potential Democratic candidate for the U. S. Senate next year. And next day State Senator Dee Huddleston, campaign chairman for Gov. Ford in this year's gubernatorial race, announced he would seek the Democratic nomination for the U. S. Senate seat now held by Republican John Sherman Cooper.

"I don't think I can achieve my ambitions this year in a positive position regardless of how hard I try," Breathitt said during a hurriedly called news conference in press row at the Capitol.

He said if he ran he would have to finance his own campaign and that the tough race would require "a tremendous amount of money and energy." Huddleston has the support of Gov. Ford and Democrat Party Chairman J. R. Miller.

Breathitt said at first he intended to keep away from state issues and run for senator only on national issues. "I am now convinced that regardless of that thought my candidacy would reopen old factional wounds. . . a confrontation could not be avoided," he said.

20c Ton Severance Tax On Strip Mine Coal Is Proposed

FRANKFORT, KY. — Robert Halcomb, president of the Coal Operators and Associates, Inc. of Pikeville, proposed Monday that a flat 20 cents per ton severance tax be imposed on surface mined coal only. And Halcomb estimated the tax would yield about $30 million a year.

Halcomb expressed opposition to a tax on underground mined coal, "a segment of the industry that cannot afford additional financial burdens, or until relieved of the harsh burdens of the 1969 coal health safety act."

COOPER AND PERKINS SUCCEED IN GETTING $32½ MILLION RESTORED

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Congress has restored $32½ million in federal school aid including $3.4 million for Kentucky schools.

The House on Thursday approved a bill restoring the funds, and the Senate approved the revised bill next day.

The money is used for special programs in schools enrolling large numbers of children from low income families.

Kentucky Rep. Carl D. Perkins, chairman of the House Education and Labor Committee and Kentucky Sen. John Sherman Cooper were credited with persuading the House and Senate appropriations committees to add the funds to a $3.4 billion supplemental appropriations bill already on its way through Congress.

The aid cuts came to light last month when the U. S. Office of Education announced fund

MAN IN PEN FOR MURDER FREED
IN RIGHTS SUIT

Donny L. Thompson of Fleming County won his freedom Tuesday on a suit contending his civil rights were violated under the seven-year-old Title I program.

Special Judge Hollie Conley of Prestonsburg ruled for Thompson who later walked out of Elliott County Jail. He had served 15 years of a life imprisonment sentence in the state penitentiary at La Grange.

Thompson contended in the suit he did not have a fair trial in the death of Jess Adkins, slain at his store about five miles south of here.

Of ten points, the suit included charges of lack of appeal, lack of change of venue and ineffective assistance of counsel.

Commonwealth's Attorney Ralph Walters of West Liberty told the court in a hearing Friday on the suit that he could not contest the suit. Records of the trial were destroyed in 1957 when the Elliott County Courthouse was razed by fire.

Four persons were eventually sentenced in the Adkins death. The third, Jerry Pence also of Fleming County, was freed on much the same suit filed by Thompson.

BLUE DEVILS
LOSE TWO IN RECENT ACTION

After seven outings, the Morgan County High Blue Devils are still looking for their first basketball victory. In recent action, the Devils fell to Rowan County, 69-64, and to Inez, 68-62.

However, in their last two encounters, the Devils, marked by star center Cliffie Smith, returned to action after being sidelined with an ankle injury, showed signs of rekindling their potential.

Last Friday at Morehead, forward Jeff Brown, with 27 points, and center Cliffie Smith, with 16, sparked a second-half rally that saw the Devils overcome a 16-point deficit to tie the score three times before Rowan County finally edged to a 5-point victory in the closing seconds.

Then, on Tuesday, the Devils, again paced by Smith and Brown, led the Inez Indians throughout most of the game, which was played under great pressure in the form of an all-court press applied by the Indians.

However, a series of Blue Devil turnovers late in the game allowed the Indians to edge to victory.

Though 6-4 Smith's return to action provided a spark for the Devils, both recent games have been marked by good performances from every position.

The Blue Devils meet Wolfe County tonight in the first round of the Wolfe County Invitational Tournament at Campton. Tuesday, the Blue Devils will play Lewis County at home.

PARTIES ELECT
GEN'L. ASSEMBLY
LEADERS MONDAY

Kentucky legislators met in Gilesville Monday for their pre-legislative conferences and picked majority leaders and other party officers for the 1972 session of the General Assembly.

Rep. Robert Blume of Louisville, who had the backing of Gov. Ford and Democrat Party chairman J. R. Miller, was elected Majority Speaker in the House by the Democrats after Rep. Terry McBrayer, former House speaker, withdrew. McBrayer moved the election of Blume, saying, "The outside pressures that my friends in the legislature have felt in the past few days and more particularly the past evening, are I hope, forgotten."

Blume's slate for other House posts were likewise elected. Included are Rep. J. R. Reynolds of Floyd County as caucus chairman, and George Harris of Paducah as whip.

The Senate Democrats retained the leadership of the 1970 session; William Sullivan of Henderson as president pro tem, Walter Dee Huddleston of Elizabethtown as majority leader, Tom Garrett of Paducah as caucus chairman and Joe D. Stacy of West Liberty as whip.

House Republicans retained Harold DeMarcus of Stanford as minority leader and shifted Arthur Schmidt of Cold Springs from caucus chairman to whip, both on unanimous voice votes. Both were unopposed.

Senate Republicans elected a new minority leader - Norman Farris of Somerset, and Ray White of Bowling Green as whip.

9-MONTH BAN ON STRIP MINING
PROPOSED BY SENATOR COOPER

WASHINGTON — All new strip mining of coal would be stopped for nine months under a bill introduced Monday by Sens. Howard Baker, R-Tenn., and John Sherman Cooper, R-Ky.

Substantial expansion of old stripping would also be halted under the Baker-Cooper bill. At the end of the nine-month period, surface mining would be permitted again only under strict control by the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA).

Baker said the immediate hold on new operations would prevent a rush to get new mines opened during the period the EPA would need to write new regulations and prepare to enforce them.

The bill provides that operators post a performance bond as assurance that all future stripped land "be returned substantially to its original use and topographical conformance."

Baker and Cooper said this phrase would prohibit stripping in areas that could not be properly reclaimed because of the steepness of the terrain.

In a Senate speech introducing the bill, Baker said it would "not put the strip miners out of business who comply with the highest form of reclamation, but it will put out of business those who don't."

Dec. 7 — Mr. and Mrs. Richard Williams and another couple, all from Ashland, spent from Friday to Sunday as guests of Mrs. Alka Williams.

Mr. and Mrs. Sewell Hamilton were in Lexington last Tuesday for a check up with Dr. Kelly. We both got a good report.

Mr. and Mrs. Bobby Lewis spent last Friday night in Frankfort and attended a party and Christmas dinner for the Department of Fire Prevention.

The dinner was held in Versailles. They returned home Saturday afternoon after doing some Christmas shopping in Lexington. Her mother, Mrs. Bertha Hammond of West Liberty, stayed with the Lewis girls.

ter Lyons, where a regular feast was spread. Others to enjoy the turkey and all the goodies were Mr. and Mrs. Johnnie Walsh, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Fannin and Phyllis, and Mr. and Mrs. Paul Lyons.

Mr. and Mrs. Sewell Hamilton and Mrs. Florence Elam had business in town Wednesday morning. Mrs. Elam stayed until the afternoon and attended the funeral of her former neighbor, Mrs. Rachel Williams.

Denzil Pack of Cincinnati visited awhile Monday with his mother, Hala Pack. He was on his way to Pikeville with a load of ears.

The Youth Group of the Church here presented a good Thanksgiving program at the church on Friday night of last week.

Brother Charlie Frederick has been quite sick the past two weeks. We wish him a speedy recovery.

H. B. Cottle, who works at Dayton received a badly injured foot while on his job he spent most of last week at home here, but went back to his doctor there Sunday. The doctor told him he might have to go into the hospital and have skin grafts.

The Lewis family has had sickness for the past month. All have been sick and the children have missed a lot of school and Paris has been off from work part of the time.

In reading Joe Creason I garner a good many "nuggets" of wisdom. One recently that I clipped out, was "Beware — the High Cost of Low Living. Along the same line was this one — "There is no Food Value in Wild Oats."

Why is there so much juvenile delinquency? Well haven't you heard parents say, "We can't do anything with our children because people let theirs run wild."

ODDS & ENDS

BY EARL KINNER, JR

The following letter arrived last week from Mrs. Oleta Day Engle of 1466 U. S. 68 North, Xenia, Ohio 45385, proving once again that it's a small world. It also indicates that the Sorghum Festival in October has put Morgan County on the map.

When a town has a Sorghum Festival, the news of it really gets around. I have been attending a cake decorating class for seven weeks at the Fairborn YMCA. I knew no one in the class except a friend of mine who was raised near Hazard. One day at her home, I told her that my husband and I had attended the West Liberty Sorghum Festival. She said, "Next year, I'm going to make a date to attend it; and you be sure and let me know when it is". (Proves it will grow as years go by). She commented that she hadn't eaten any Kentucky sorghum for years.

The next week I took her a small jar of the sweet delicious syrup, made by my brother-in-law, Glenn Johnson.

Another week rolls by and during a lull in our cake decorating, I asked if she had eaten any of her sorghum. She said that she heated it on the stove and ate the foam and dreamed that she was back in Kentucky at an honest-to-goodness cane mill. She added that it was so delicious and took her back to the days of her youth in the Kentucky hills. I guess that proves that sorghum is good for one's mind as well as body.

About That Sorghum Fest

I really thought that we were talking so low that no one else could hear our sorghum conversation. But the lady on the other side of me heard and said, "Sorghum! Where on earth did you get sorghum?"

I replied, "Oh, I went to a Sorghum Festival".

She said, "Did you go to THAT?"

I guess I under-rated its popularity for I said, "The one I attended was in Kentucky".

She said, "That's the one I'm talking about". Her tone implied that it must be the only one in the whole wide world.

Startled, I stammered, "West Liberty".

Casually, she answered, "West Liberty. My daughter-in-law is from there". It turned out that her daughter-in-law is the daughter of Era Smith and his wife, Oakley Benton Smith.

About that time, a lady at the other end of the table looked at me and asked, "Are you from West Liberty?" Then added, "I'm from Crockett". (Mrs. Ferguson, I think).

This all goes to prove that its a small world and a Sorghum Festival really brings folks together. After seven weeks of class, it took those magic words, "Sorghum" for me to learn that I wasn't the only one in the class from Morgan County.

The Sorghum Festival will probably bring fame to West

Liberty. When spoken of it will probably bring comments of "West Liberty, the town that has the Sorghum Festival".

It's not like June in January, but many days this month have been a lot like April or May. A snake that got mixed up a little maybe by the warm spell got himself killed the other day when Terry Cantrell of Mima saw it crawling across the road near his home. Also, dogwoods are reported to be budding and forsythia bushes are blooming in some places in the county.
